THE LOVE UNFEIGNED
Geoffrey Chaucer (1340?- 1400)

O YONGE fresshe folkes, he or she,
In which that love up groweth with your age,
Repeyreth hoom from worldly vanitee,
And of your herte up-casteth the visage
To thilke god that after his image
Yow made, and thinketh al nis but a fayre
This world, that passeth sone as floures fayre.

And loveth him, the which that right for love
Upon a cros, our soules for to beye,
First starf, and roos, and sit in hevene a-bove;
For he nil falsen no wight, dar I seye,
That wol his herte al hoolly on him leye.
And sin he best to love is, and most meke,
What nedeth feyned loves for to seke?

Modern English
(not to learn, just for help with understanding):

O young fresh folks, he or she,
In which love is growing, just as you are growing older,
Return home from worldly vanity,
And from your heart, cast up your visage
To that God that made you after His image, and consider that this world is
but an affair that passes soon as flowers fair,

And love Him, Who, for love,
Upon a cross, our souls to buy,
First died, and rose, and sits in heaven above;
For He will not deal falsely with any creature, I daresay,
That will wholly lay his heart on Him.
And since He best to love is, and most meek,
What needeth feigned loves for to seek?

(7) A MIGHTY FORTRESS IS OUR GOD Martin Luther (1483-1546)

A mighty Fortress is our God,
A Bulwark never failing;
Our Helper he, amid the flood
Of mortal ills prevailing.
For still our ancient foe
Doth seek to work us woe;
His craft and pow'r are great;
And, armed with cruel hate,
On earth is not his equal.

Did we in our own strength confide,
Our striving would be losing;
Were not the right Man on our side,
The Man of God's own choosing.
Dost ask who that may be?
Christ Jesus, it is he,
Lord Sabaoth, his Name,
From age to age the same,
And he must win the battle.

And though this world, with devils filled,
Should threaten to undo us,
We will not fear, for God hath willed
His truth to triumph through us.
The Prince of Darkness grim,
We tremble not for him;
His rage we can endure,
For lo! his doom is sure;
One little word shall fell him.

That Word above all earthly powers,
No thanks to them, abideth;
The Spirit and the gifts are ours
Through Him Who with us sideth;
Let goods and kindred go,
This mortal life also;
The body they may kill:
God's truth abideth still;
His kingdom is forever.

What did Drake pray before setting sail in the Golden Hind?
Disturb us, Lord, when we are too well pleased with ourselves, when our dreams have come true because we have dreamed too little, when we arrive safely because we sailed too close to the shore.

Disturb us, Lord, when with the abundance of things we possess, we have lost our thirst for the waters of life, having fallen in love with life, we have ceased to dream of eternity, and in our efforts to build a new earth, we have allowed our vision of the new heaven to dim.

Disturb us, Lord, to dare more boldly, to venture on wider seas, where storms will show your mastery, where losing sight of land, we shall find the stars. We ask you to push back the horizon of our hopes, and to push us into the future in strength, courage, hope, and love.

This we ask in the name of our Captain, who is Jesus Christ.

(7) Poetry: A CRADLE HYMN Isaac Watts (1674-1748)

HUSH! my dear, lie still and slumber,/ Holy angels guard thy bed!
Heavenly blessings without number/ Gently falling on thy head.

Sleep, my babe; thy food and raiment,/ House and home, thy friends provide;
All without thy care or payment:/ All thy wants are well supplied.

How much better thou'rt attended/ Than the Son of God could be,
When from heaven He descended/ And became a child like thee!

Soft and easy is thy cradle:/ Coarse and hard thy Saviour lay,
When His birthplace was a stable/ And His softest bed was hay.

Blessèd babe! what glorious features—/ Spotless fair, divinely bright!
Must He dwell with brutal creatures?/ How could angels bear the sight?

Was there nothing but a manger/ Cursèd sinners could afford
To receive the heavenly stranger?/ Did they thus affront their Lord?

Soft, my child: I did not chide thee,/ Though my song might sound too hard;
'Tis thy mother sits beside thee,/ And her arms shall be thy guard.

Yet to read the shameful story/ How the Jews abused their King,
How they served the Lord of Glory,/ Makes me angry while I sing.

See the kinder shepherds round Him,/ Telling wonders from the sky!
Where they sought Him, there they found Him,/ With His Virgin mother by.

See the lovely babe a-dressing;/ Lovely infant, how He smiled!
When He wept, the mother's blessing
Soothed and hush'd the holy child.

Lo, He slumbers in His manger,/ Where the hornèd oxen fed:
Peace, my darling; here's no danger,/ Here's no ox anear thy bed.

'Twas to save thee, child, from dying,/ Save my dear from burning flame,
Bitter groans and endless crying,/ That thy blest Redeemer came.

May'st thou live to know and fear Him,/ Trust and love Him all thy days;
Then go dwell for ever near Him, / See His face, and sing His praise!

(7) Poetry: A CRADLE HYMN Isaac Watts (1674–1748)

HUSH! my dear, lie still and slumber,/ Holy angels guard thy bed!
Heavenly blessings without number/ Gently falling on thy head.

Sleep, my babe; thy food and raiment,/ House and home, thy friends provide;
All without thy care or payment:/ All thy wants are well supplied.

How much better thou'rt attended/ Than the Son of God could be,
When from heaven He descended/ And became a child like thee!

Soft and easy is thy cradle:/ Coarse and hard thy Saviour lay,
When His birthplace was a stable/ And His softest bed was hay.

Blessèd babe! what glorious features—/ Spotless fair, divinely bright!
Must He dwell with brutal creatures?/ How could angels bear the sight?

Was there nothing but a manger/ Cursèd sinners could afford
To receive the heavenly stranger?/ Did they thus affront their Lord?

Soft, my child: I did not chide thee,/ Though my song might sound too hard;
'Tis thy mother sits beside thee,/ And her arms shall be thy guard.

Yet to read the shameful story/ How the Jews abused their King,
How they served the Lord of Glory,/ Makes me angry while I sing.

See the kinder shepherds round Him,/ Telling wonders from the sky!
Where they sought Him, there they found Him,/ With His Virgin mother by.

See the lovely babe a-dressing;/ Lovely infant, how He smiled!
When He wept, the mother's blessing
Soothed and hush'd the holy child.

Lo, He slumbers in His manger,/ Where the hornèd oxen fed:
Peace, my darling; here's no danger,/ Here's no ox anear thy bed.

'Twas to save thee, child, from dying,/ Save my dear from burning flame,
Bitter groans and endless crying,/ That thy blest Redeemer came.

May'st thou live to know and fear Him,/ Trust and love Him all thy days;
Then go dwell for ever near Him, / See His face, and sing His praise!

How did William the Silent conclude his Apology to the States-General? As for myself—would to God that my exile or death could deliver you from the oppression of the Spaniard! How eagerly would I welcome either! For what think you have I sacrificed my whole property, my brothers who were dearer to me than life, my son who was kidnapped from his father; for what do I hold my life in my hand day and night, if it be not that I may buy your freedom with my blood? If you think that my absence or my death can serve you, I am willing. If you think that my experience and such industry as I have can serve you yet, let us all go forward with one heart and will to complete the defense of this poor people, with the grace of God, which has upheld me so often in dire perplexity and straits, and let us save your wives and your children, and all that you hold dear and sacred. What does the Dutch Act of Abjuration say about princes?
God did not create the people slaves to their prince, to obey his commands, whether right or wrong, but rather the prince for the sake of the subjects (without which he could be no prince), to govern them according to equity, to love and support them as a father his children or a shepherd his flock, and even at the hazard of life to defend and preserve them.

(In the original Dutch)

En dat d'ondersaten niet en sijn van Godt geschapen tot behoef van den Prince om hem in alles wat hy beveelt, weder het goddelick of ongoddelick, recht of onrecht is, onderdanig te wesen en als slaven te dienen: maer den Prince om d'ondersaten wille, sonder dewelcke hy egeen Prince en is, om deselve met recht ende redene te regeeren ende voor te staen ende lief te hebben als een vader zijne kinderen ende een herder zijne schapen, die zijn lijf ende leven set om deselve te bewaren.

CHRIST THE LORD IS RISEN TODAY
Charles Wesley (1707-1788)
From 14th Century hymn (anonymous)

"Christ, the Lord, is risen today," Alleluia!
Sons of men and angels say, Alleluia!
Raise your joys and triumphs high, Alleluia!
Sing, ye heav'ns, and earth, reply, Alleluia!
Love's redeeming work is done, Alleluia!
Fought the fight, the battle won, Alleluia! [1]
Lo! Our sun's eclipse is o'er, Alleluia!
Lo! He sets in blood no more, Alleluia!
Vain the stone, the watch, the seal, Alleluia!
Christ hath burst the gates of hell! Alleluia!
Death in vain forbids his rise, Alleluia!
Christ hath open'd paradise! Alleluia!
Lives again our glorious King, Alleluia!
Where, O death, is now thy sting? Alleluia!
Dying once he all doth save, Alleluia!
Where thy victory, O grave? Alleluia!
Soar we now where Christ has led? Alleluia!
Following our exalted head, Alleluia!
Made like him, like him we rise, Alleluia!
Ours the cross—the grave—the skies! Alleluia!
Hail the Lord of earth and heav'n! Alleluia!
Praise to thee by both be giv'n, Alleluia!
Thee we greet triumphant now, Alleluia!
Hail, the resurrection, thou! Alleluia!
King of glory, soul of bliss, Alleluia!
Everlasting life is this, Alleluia!
Thee to know, thy pow'r to prove, Alleluia!
Thus to sing and thus to love! Alleluia!
Hymns of praise then let us sing, Alleluia!
Unto Christ, our heavenly King, Alleluia!
Who endured the cross and grave, Alleluia!
Sinners to redeem and save. Alleluia!
But the pains that He endured, Alleluia!
Our salvation have procured, Alleluia!
Now above the sky He's King, Alleluia!
Where the angels ever sing. Alleluia!
Jesus Christ is risen today, Alleluia!
Our triumphant holy day, Alleluia!
Who did once upon the cross, Alleluia!
Suffer to redeem our loss. Alleluia!

MAYFLOWER COMPACT

In the name of God, Amen. We whose names are underwritten, the loyal subjects of our dread sovereign lord, King James, by the grace of God, of Great Britain, France and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith, etc., having undertaken for the glory of God, and advancement of the Christian faith, and honour of our king and country, a voyage to plant the first colony in the northern parts of Virginia, do by these presents solemnly and mutually in the presence of God, and of one another, covenant and combine ourselves into a civil body politic, for our better ordering and preservation, and the furtherance of the ends aforesaid and by virtue hereof to enact, constitute, and frame, such just and equal laws, ordinances, acts, constitutions, and offices, from time to time, as shall be thought most meet and convenient for the general use of the Colony, unto which we promise all due submission and obedience.

In witness whereof we have here underscribed our names at Cape Cod, 11th of November, in the year of the reign of our sovereign lord, King James of England, France and Ireland the eighteenth, and of Scotland the fifty-fourth. Anno Domini 1620

Charles Wesley (1707-1788)
From 14th Century hymn (anonymous)

"Christ, the Lord, is risen today," Alleluia!
Sons of men and angels say, Alleluia!
Raise your joys and triumphs high, Alleluia!
Sing, ye heav'ns, and earth, reply, Alleluia!
Love's redeeming work is done, Alleluia!
Fought the fight, the battle won, Alleluia! [1]
Lo! Our sun's eclipse is o'er, Alleluia!
Lo! He sets in blood no more, Alleluia!
Vain the stone, the watch, the seal, Alleluia!
Christ hath burst the gates of hell! Alleluia!
Death in vain forbids his rise, Alleluia!
Christ hath open'd paradise! Alleluia!
Lives again our glorious King, Alleluia!
Where, O death, is now thy sting? Alleluia!
Dying once he all doth save, Alleluia!
Where thy victory, O grave? Alleluia!
Soar we now where Christ has led? Alleluia!
Following our exalted head, Alleluia!
Made like him, like him we rise, Alleluia!
Ours the cross—the grave—the skies! Alleluia!
Hail the Lord of earth and heav'n! Alleluia!
Praise to thee by both be giv'n, Alleluia!
Thee we greet triumphant now, Alleluia!
Hail, the resurrection, thou! Alleluia!
King of glory, soul of bliss, Alleluia!
Everlasting life is this, Alleluia!
Thee to know, thy pow'r to prove, Alleluia!
Thus to sing and thus to love! Alleluia!
Hymns of praise then let us sing, Alleluia!
Unto Christ, our heavenly King, Alleluia!
Who endured the cross and grave, Alleluia!
Sinners to redeem and save. Alleluia!
But the pains that He endured, Alleluia!
Our salvation have procured, Alleluia!
Now above the sky He's King, Alleluia!
Where the angels ever sing. Alleluia!
Jesus Christ is risen today, Alleluia!
Our triumphant holy day, Alleluia!
Who did once upon the cross, Alleluia!
Suffer to redeem our loss. Alleluia!

What did Cromwell write about his success in battle? This is none other than the work of God. He must be a very Atheist that doth not acknowledge it. It may be thought that some praises are due to those gallant men, of whose valor so much mention is made—their humble suit to you and all that have an interest in this blessing, is that in the remembrance of God's praises they be forgotten. It's their joy that they are instruments of God's glory and their nation's good. —Oliver Cromwell

OZYMANDIAS
Percy Bysshe Shelley (1792-1822)

I met a traveller from an antique land,
Who said—"Two vast and trunkless legs of stone
Stand in the desert. . . . Near them, on the sand,
Half sunk a shattered visage lies, whose frown,
And wrinkled lip, and sneer of cold command,
Tell that its sculptor well those passions read
Which yet survive, stamped on these lifeless things,
The hand that mocked them, and the heart that fed;
And on the pedestal, these words appear:
My name is Ozymandias, King of Kings;
Look on my Works, ye Mighty, and despair!
Nothing beside remains. Round the decay
Of that colossal Wreck, boundless and bare
The lone and level sands stretch far away."

(4) Historic Quotation

What did Newton write about the solar system?
[T]hough these bodies may, indeed, persevere in their orbits by the mere laws of gravity, yet they could by no means have at first derived the regular position of the orbits themselves from those laws ... . This most beautiful system of the sun, planets, and comets, could only proceed from the counsel and dominion of an intelligent and powerful Being.
—Sir Isaac Newton, Principia

FOR FURTHER EDIFICATION (NOT TO BE MEMORIZED) NEWTON CONTINUES:
This Being governs all things, not as the soul of the world, but as Lord over all; and on account of his dominion he is wont to be called Lord God παντοκράτωρ, or Universal Ruler; for God is a relative word, and has a respect to servants; and Deity is the dominion of God not over his own body, as those imagine who fancy God to be the soul of the world, but over servants. The Supreme God is a Being eternal, infinite, absolutely perfect; but a being, however perfect, without dominion, cannot be said to be Lord God; for we say, my God, your God, the God of Israel, the God of Gods, and Lord of Lords; but we do not say, my Eternal, your Eternal, the Eternal of Israel, the Eternal of Gods; we do not say, my Infinite, or my Perfect: these are titles which have no respect to servants. The word God usually signifies Lord; but every lord is not a God. It is the dominion of a spiritual being which constitutes a God: a true, supreme, or imaginary dominion makes a true, supreme, or imaginary God. And from his true dominion it follows that the true God is a living, intelligent, and powerful Being; and, from his other perfections, that he is supreme, or most perfect. He is eternal and infinite, omnipotent and omniscient; that is, his duration reaches from eternity to eternity; his presence from infinity to infinity; he governs all things, and knows all things that are or can be done. ... As a blind man has no idea of colours, so have we no idea of the manner by which the all-wise God perceives and understands all things. He is utterly void of all body and bodily figure, and can therefore neither be seen, nor heard, nor touched; nor ought he to be worshipped under the representation of any corporeal thing. We have ideas of his attributes, but what the real substance of any thing is we know not. In bodies, we see only their figures and colours, we hear only the sounds, we touch only their outward surfaces, we smell only the smells, and taste the savours; but their inward substances are not to be known either by our senses, or by any reflex act of our minds: much less, then, have we any idea of the substance of God. We know him only by his most wise and excellent contrivances of things, and final causes: we admire him for his perfections; but we reverence and adore him on account of his dominion: for we adore him as his servants; and a god without dominion, providence, and final causes, is nothing else but Fate and Nature. Blind metaphysical necessity, which is certainly the same always and every where, could produce no variety of things. All that diversity of natural things which we find suited to different times and places could arise from nothing but the ideas and will of a Being necessarily existing. But, by way of allegory, God is said to see, to speak, to laugh, to love, to hate, to desire, to give, to receive, to rejoice, to be angry, to fight, to frame, to work, to build; for all our notions of God are taken from the ways of mankind by a certain similitude, which, though not perfect, has some likeness, however. And thus much concerning God; to discourse of whom from the appearances of things, does certainly belong to Natural Philosophy.

CROWN HIM WITH MANY CROWNS
Matthew Bridges (1800-1894)

Crown him with many crowns, The Lamb upon his throne.
Hark! How the heav'nly anthem drowns All music but its own:
Awake, my soul, and sing Of him who died for thee,
And hail him as thy matchless King Through all eternity.

Crown him the Lord of life, Who triumphed over the grave,
And rose victorious in the strife For those He came to save:
His glories now we sing, Who died, and rose on high,
Who died eternal life to bring, And lives that death may die.

Crown him the Lord of peace; Whose pow'r a scepter sways
From pole to pole, that wars may cease, And all be prayer and praise:
His reign shall know no end; And round his piercèd feet
Fair flowers of Paradise extend Their fragrance ever sweet.

Crown him the Lord of love; Behold his hands and side,
Rich wounds, yet visible above, In beauty glorified:
No angel in the sky Can fully bear that sight,
But downward bends his burning eye At mysteries so bright.

Crown him the Lord of years, The Potentate of time;
Creator of the rolling spheres, Ineffably sublime:
All hail, Redeemer, hail! For thou has died for me:
Thy praise shall never, never fail Throughout eternity.

What does Isaiah 59:1-2 say?
Behold, the Lord's hand is not shortened, that it cannot save: neither is his ear heavy, that it cannot hear. But your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, that he will not hear.
Isaiah 59:1-2

(5) Bible Passage

PROVERBS 2:1-5

My son, if thou wilt receive my words, and hide my commandments within thee,

And cause thine ears to hearken unto wisdom, and incline thine heart to understanding,

(6) Scripture Catechism

119. What conditions does Jesus Christ put upon hearing our prayers?
If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you. John 15:7

120. What confidence may we have in prayer?
And this is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask any thing according to his will, he heareth us.
1 John 5:14

HISTORY

(1) Historic Quotation

What did Davies preach during the French and Indian War?
And shall these Ravages go on unchecked? Shall Virginia incur the Guilt and the everlasting Shame, of tamely exchanging her Liberty, her Religion, and her All, for arbitrary Gallic Power, and for Popish Slavery, Tyranny, and Massacre? Alas! are there none of her Children, that enjoyed all the Blessings of her Peace, that will espouse her Cause, and befriend her now in the Time of her Danger? —Samuel Davies

CROWN HIM WITH MANY CROWNS
Matthew Bridges (1800-1894)

Crown him with many crowns, The Lamb upon his throne.
Hark! How the heav'nly anthem drowns All music but its own:
Awake, my soul, and sing Of him who died for thee,
And hail him as thy matchless King Through all eternity.

Crown him the Lord of life, Who triumphed over the grave,
And rose victorious in the strife For those He came to save:
His glories now we sing, Who died, and rose on high,
Who died eternal life to bring, And lives that death may die.

Crown him the Lord of peace; Whose pow'r a scepter sways
From pole to pole, that wars may cease, And all be prayer and praise:
His reign shall know no end; And round his piercèd feet
Fair flowers of Paradise extend Their fragrance ever sweet.

Crown him the Lord of love; Behold his hands and side,
Rich wounds, yet visible above, In beauty glorified:
No angel in the sky Can fully bear that sight,
But downward bends his burning eye At mysteries so bright.

Crown him the Lord of years, The Potentate of time;
Creator of the rolling spheres, Ineffably sublime:
All hail, Redeemer, hail! For thou has died for me:
Thy praise shall never, never fail Throughout eternity.

What did Henry say in his famous speech to the Virginia Assembly?

If we wish to be free—if we mean to preserve inviolate those inestimable privileges for which we have been so long contending—if we mean not basely to abandon the noble struggle in which we have been so long engaged, and which we have pledged ourselves never to abandon until the glorious object of our contest shall be obtained—we must fight! I repeat it, sir, we must fight! An appeal to arms and to the God of hosts is all that is left us!

... There is a just God who presides over the destinies of nations, and who will raise up friends to fight our battles for us. ...

Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God! I know not what course others may take; but as for me, give me liberty or give me death!
